Refers Insurance Bidding to Committee

Legislature Votes Down Pot Leniency

By CHAZY DOWALIBY

KINGSTON — After close to 30 minutes of sometimes factual, more often emotional debate, the county legislature Thursday night voted 20 to 13 to oppose the possible decriminalization of marijuana.

The debate centered on the State's proposal to reduce the penalty for possession of small quantities of the drug to a misdemeanor crime. In passing the resolution, the legislature let local Assembly and Senate representatives know Ulster's official stand against the proposal.

Barbara DeStafano, D-Dist. 6, who has successfully lead no (cigarette) smoking campaigns in the county building before, last night presented opinions—ranging from the N.Y.S. Parent Teachers Association and the American Medical Association to Ann Landers and William F. Buckley—supporting the decriminalization bill.

Despite efforts by her and a small number of colleagues, the majority of the legislature argued that "legalizing" marijuana would only lead to the more widespread use of the drug among school-aged children.

Most of those voting for the opposition resolution stated their belief that the bill would be just the first step toward totally legalizing the weed, that all hard drug addicts had first begun by smoking marijuana and that the lessening of penalties was tantamount to telling children it was all right to smoke up to two ounces of grass.

Vernon Frost, R-Dist. 6, added that his own son had been involved in marijuana use and that his personal

County Will Continue To Tighten Its Belts

KINGSTON—Supporting what they said were hard facts showing the effectiveness of the program, the county legislature has decided to continue detailed accounting of all expense requests by departments.

After presenting a breakdown of the 1976 treasurer's spending report, which indicated a $1.4 million savings in the county's 400 accounts (everything from paper clips to bed sheets) the group voted overwhelmingly to keep a required step by step spending request (procedure) in effect for the time being.

In a surprise announcement last week the chairman Ernest Gardner, R-Dist. 8, indicated the county had made up an expected $2 million deficit and had all but broken even in its spending for the year.

A breakdown of just where the pennies were pinched, released last night, showed that $433,767 was saved in salaries, $40,428 in equipment, $1.4 million in contractual expenses (purchasing) $95,279 in fringe benefits and $13,993 in interest on bond anticipation notes.

Minority Leader Louis Klein, D-Dist. 6, continued his criticism of the savings analysis, saying that he believed county department heads probably had had extra money in their 400 accounts and, responding to austerity requests from the legislature, just didn't spend everything they had.

He and several other legislators stated they had never been in a committee meeting where one 400 account request had been denied.

The resolution still in effect requires departments to submit extensive paperwork to justify every spending request, which must then gain committee and finally full legislative approval.

Those opposing the resolution say that the effort and expense incurred by the barrage of paper work is costing more than it is purported to save.

Another Extols Character of Suspended Judge

Witness Says Richter Kicked Him

By LYNN MULVANEY

WHITE PLAINS — A March 1975 courtroom wrangle in which suspended Kingston City Judge Hubert A. Richter was accused of kicking a prisoner while he was pinned to the floor by police, was aired in a Supreme Court judicial misconduct hearing here Thursday.

It was also learned that Judge Richter, who is charged with sentencing a prisoner to a jail term in his private office without benefit of counsel, brought defendant Nicholas Malanios back from prison for resentencing two months later and released him on three years probation instead.

Richter was suspended last December by the New York State Commission on Judicial Conduct pending the outcome of the hearings that started here Tuesday.

It was Kingston City Police Officer James Wallace who told of the 1975

Judge Hubert Richter

courtroom incident in which Richter came down from the bench and demanded an apology after John R.

Schiskie told the judge to "go f--- yourself" Richter set bail at $10,000.

Schiskie, who has a record of 30 arrests, claimed Richter "closed his hand and swung at my face, but he missed and hit my shoulder."

Asked why he was so angered by Richter's imposition of bail, Schiskie told Justice Frank Pino, "the judge spoke very wise-like" and through his teeth.

"You didn't like the way he ground his teeth?" Pino asked.

"No sir."

Schiskie told the court Richter kicked him in the side as he asked officers to remove him from the courtroom and admitted he called the judge "a red-necked bastard" and continued to curse him. He denied striking Richter with his handcuffs and Officer Wallace corroborated that fact.

Although Wallace heard Schiskie

RAMPAGE Drug Center Students Riot, Damage Runs into Thousands

RHINEBECK — A three-hour rampage by 40 boys at the Holy Cross Drug Rehabilitation Center here Thursday night ended when the school's director Dr. Steven Gold convinced them they should return to their dormitories.

Twenty Rhinebeck State Policemen rushed to the scene after the students broke into the campus infirmary and inflicted thousands of dollars of damage to windows and furniture.

"Then they barricaded themselves in one of the adjacent buildings, a three-story dormitory, and threatened to burn it down," police said.

Sources close to the scene reported that some of the staff, fearing physical injury, locked themselves in a medicine room with a steel door until police arrived.

The rampage which began about 9 p.m., was reportedly precipitated because one of the boys, age 12 through 16, had broken the facilities rules and was being held in the center's detention facility.

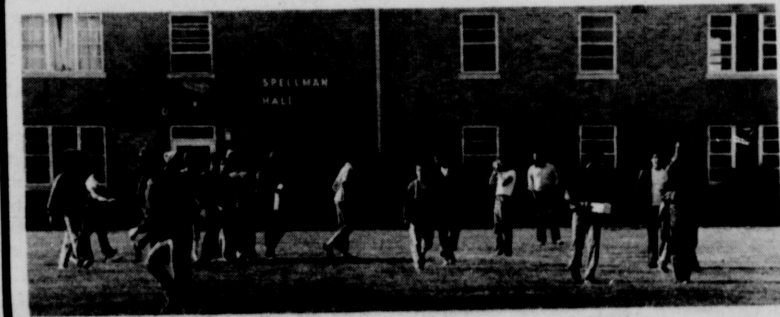

State Police are continuing the investigation, saying that arrests would be made only if Gold presses charges. The doctor was unavailable for comment this morning. Aides said he was in a meeting and was not to be disturbed.

One newsman reported today that Gold ordered reporters off the premises last night.

Youths peacefully at play in front of Spellman Hall at the center, after a night of rage.

Attempts to get information from other staff members were unsuccessful. Reporters were told that the administration had asked them not to say anything about the incident.

Police said that there was no fire, and no injuries were reported. Sheriff deputies, constables and numerous fire companies were on the scene during the three-hour siege which ended about midnight.

Meanwhile, the center's presence in the Rhinebeck community is scheduled to come up before the town board within the week. Residents have been expressing concern about their safety since the facility was first established.

Daley Convicted of Extortion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 47-year-old secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 445 in Newburgh was convicted Thursday of extortion and accepting free goods and services from Teamster employers.

Theodore Daley of Beacon could be sent to prison for 20 years and fined $60,000 when he is sentenced by Judge Morris Lasker in U.S. District Court on April 22.

He also faces loss of leadership of the local, which has contracts with trucking and construction firms in Ulster, Orange Westchester and other counties.

Prosecution witnesses at Daley's 14-day trial testified that in 1971 two bulldozers, loads of crushed stone and timbers were delivered by truck from Kingston to his mountain cabin near Windham.

To their knowledge, the witnesses said, neither the firms supplying the materials nor the drivers were ever paid.

Daley said he paid for the materials and signed an $800 check for the drivers' services. Other defense witnesses described the operation as merely one brother union member helping another.

Daley was convicted of conspiracy to violate the Hobbs Act, which makes it a crime to interfere with commerce by threats or by violence. He was also charged with violating federal labor laws by demanding things of value from firms having contracts with the union.

The indictment said the employers were induced to provide materials and services to Daley by fear of financial and economic injury.

Two other local officials, former President Anthony Alecca Jr. and a one-time shop steward named Thomas Clausi, were cited as indicted coconspirators in the indictment filed last August. Both testified for the prosecution.

Paltz Plant Lays Off 36 Workers

Saccharin Ban Has Bitter Results

NEW PALTZ — A federal ban on saccharin has caused one local producer of the artificial sweetener to "temporarily" lay off 36 employees, and prospects for their future rehiring are dim.

Clifton Jones, plant manager for Foodways National in New Paltz, the national manufacturer of Weight Watchers sweetener and Weight Watchers dehydrated broth, said this morning that he has only a skeleton crew remaining on hand and has "curtailed all of our sweetener production" until a final government decision is reached.

On Wednesday the Food and Drug Administration announced it would ban the sale of saccharin in four months because Canadian tests showed the substance fed in large amounts to laboratory rats, produced cancer of the bladder.

Saccharin has been used for over 80 years in the United States and Europe and is pivotal in this country's billiondollar "diet food" industry.

Jones said his five-year-old New Paltz operation pays out about $15,000 a week in salaries and will have to close down completely if the FDA doesn't change its mind.

Foodways is a subsidiary of a Connecticut-based firm which also produces all of Weight Watchers brand frozen dinners.

"We weren't expecting this. We all knew there were tests being conducted on saccharin, but all evidence has been inconclusive so far said Jones.

The plant manager added that the repercussions of the ban would greatly effect the trucking, warehousing, packaging and advertising industries involved in the manufacture and distribution of artificially sweetened beverages and foods.

Town Supervisor William Yaeple said this morning that the possibl

Foodways closing is "bound to have a detrimental impact on the community."

"It's a real kick in the pants," said Yaeple, who added his belief that the company had been thinking about expanding its local operation.

Benjamin Eisenstadt, vice president of the New York City-based Sweet 'n Low company said yesterday "For human beings to ingest the same amount of saccharin fed to the rats,

World in Brief

Fight Manager Slain; Character in 'Rocky'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Howie Steinlender's body was found in the back seat of his car parked on the shoulder of Ventura freeway Wednesday night. He had received a beating that broke three of his ribs and a vertebra and left bruises on his head, chest and right leg before he "died of suffocation by apparent smothering," the coroner's office said.

The police say they have few clues in the killing of the boxing figure, who was a model for the crusty manager in the movie "Rocky."

Muslim Siege Ends With Hostages Freed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 14 Hanafi Muslim gunmen, who took over three of Washington's buildings Wednesday, killing a young reporter and shooting, beating or stabbing at least eight more in the process, were carted off early this morning to face arraignment on charges of armed kidnapping and perhaps murder.

More than 130 people were freed and were taken to hospitals for examination, after negotiations in a three-hour meeting between the leader of the Muslims and the ambassadors of three Moslem countries — Egypt, Iran and Pakistan. Police said they acceded to none of the terrorists' demands.

Carter and Callaghan Talk About Concorde

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter chatted with reporters at a White House dinner honoring British Prime Minister James Callaghan Wednesday evening and when asked if he thought religious fanaticism may have prompted the Hanafi Muslim rampage, said, "... It's deplorable that a deep religious belief would lead to violence. Of course, it's been historically true. For instance in Spain with the Inquisition..."

At Carter's final meeting with Callaghan today, the two men were to take up the controversy surrounding international landing rights for the Concorde supersonic transport.

Chavez, Teamsters Reach Agreement

BURLINGAME, Calif. (UPI) — For the first time in 10 years Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers and the Teamsters union are at peace. In an agreement signed Thursday, the UFW will be the union representative for just about all field hands and the Teamsters will retain jurisdiction over commercial packing sheds and off-farm transportation of crops.

The agreement covers the 13 Western states and will remain in effect for five years.

For Period Ending 7 A.M. Saturday

Snow will fall tonight across most of the northern and central Plains region, changing to rain or showers in the Mississippi and Tennessee Valleys. Fair to partly cloudy skies are forecast elsewhere.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1977

Sun rises at 6:17 a.m.; sun sets at 5:56 p.m., E.S.T.
Weather: Partly Cloudy and Mild

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 36 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 62 degrees.

Weather Forecast

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York State zone forecasts: Hudson Valley to partly cloudy and mild today. Highs in the 60s to around 70. Fair tonight. Lows in the upper 30s and low 40s. Saturday, considerable cloudiness and a chance of showers.

Revenues Close to Estimate

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —

State revenues of $9.268 billion for the first 11 months of the fiscal year were $932.2 million over the comparable period in the previous fiscal year, acting budget director Howard Miller said Thursday.

Miller said the revenue growth through February was "close in line" with earlier predictions and the 7.2 percent growth rate is "consistent with previously projected growth rates."

Income tax collections, Miller said, totaled $4.151 billion for the April 1976 through February period, an increase of $300.3 million — 7.8 percent — over the comparable 1975-76 period.

The sales tax climbed by $262.1 million to $1.825 billion, a 17.2 percent increase. Total user taxes and fees, including the sales tax income, increased by $262.1 million to $2.744 billion.

Business tax collections rose by $220.3 million to $1.388.7 billion, and revenue from other sources was $70.1 million higher at $411 million.

The sharpest decrease was in pari-mutuel tax collections, which dropped by $14 million to $155.2 million from $169.2 million, a decrease of 8.3 percent.

One View on Smuggled Cigs:

Reduce the Profit, Smoke Out Crime

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A citizens group reasons if the profit in dealing in cigarettes smuggled into the state without paying state and local taxes is reduced, organized crime will get out of the business.

Paul Curran, a former U.S. attorney and chairman of the week-old group, said more than $100 million is lost to bootleggers annually in city and state tax revenues.

Bootleggers buy cigarettes in North Carolina, where they are taxed at only 2 cents a pack, and import them to New York where a 21-cent tax differential makes up their profit on resale, Curran said at a news conference Thursday.

The citizens' campaign, which Curran said was organized a week ago and paid for by the cigarette industry, is backing legislation to cut the state tax by a penny a pack and repeal the 8-cent tax in New York City.

Cigarette manufacturers "are sponsoring this campaign," Curran said, because "it has reached the point that manufacturers are concerned that organized crime is becoming a dominant factor in the state's tobacco industry."

Curran, who at one time headed the State Investigation Commission, said a special task force named by Gov. Hugh Carey to consider the problem had concluded that increased sales through legitimate channels would more than offset the loss of revenue from the tax reduction.

While admitting that law enforcement efforts to enforce the tax "have been virtually nonexistent," Curran said he favored cutting the tax rather than beefing up enforcement.

"When arrests are made," Curran said, "judges don't take proper care of (the suspects) and hardly anybody ever goes to jail."

The study group concluded that the state would collect $7.4 million more in taxes than is being collected under the current tax structure, Curran said.

Gerald Lynch, president of John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York City and a member of the citizens' group, estimated that in New York City "one out of every two packs of cigarettes are sold illegally." Statewide, he said, one of every four packs was bootlegged.

Bills introduced by Sen. John Marchi, R-Statens Island, Sen. Jeremiah Bloom, D-Brooklyn, and Assemblyman Mark Siegel, D-Manhattan, would reduce the state tax from 15 cents to 14 cents and repeal the city's 8-cent excise tax. Curran also said that the state would reimburse New York City for the $55 million excise tax lost and still come out $7.4 million ahead.

It Was Aprilish In Old New York

A one-word forecast from the National Weather Service at Buffalo said "Aprilish" Thursday, as unseasonal, spring-like temperatures broke records throughout New York State.

New highs were set at Rochester, Albany, Syracuse, Binghamton, and Syracuse. Several New England points also reported record highs.

Albany got to 72 degrees at 3:30 p.m., shattering a nearly century-old mark of 64, set in 1878. The peak of 68 degrees at Rochester edged the previous 67-degree top for the date, set in 1898. The weather service said it was the second day in a row that record highs had been set in Rochester.

Syracuse reached 67 degrees, enough to eclipse the old high of 61, established in 1955.

The Binghamton peak was 66 degrees, topping the date's old mark of 62, which had been set in 1955. Officials there said that today's record of 64, set in 1955, also should fall, with predicted temperatures for today to be 65-70.

Elsewhere around the state Thursday were 71 in Elmira, 67 at Syracuse, 63 in New York City and a mere 60 at Buffalo.

Muslim Leader Freed Without Bond as Siege Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Persuaded by three Moslem ambassadors "to come out with a happy ending," Hanafi Muslim gunmen surrendered early today, freed about 130 hostages and ended peacefully a 39-hour ordeal that began violently.

Ringleader Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, who had threatened to behead his captives during the siege, was charged with armed kidnaping. As part of the bargain which won the hostages' freedom, Khaalis was arraigned — then ordered released without bond.

Three of the hostages are shown against the window of the B'nai B'rith building before the end of the long ordeal.

His release until his formal indictment by a grand jury was agreed to in advance by Superior Court Chief Judge Harold Greene.

Eleven other gunmen still were being held pending arraignment later today.

As hostages streamed from city hall, the Islam mosque and the B'nai B'rith building, the bells of the Foundry Methodist Church — largest Swiss bells in America — rang out joyfully. Waiting relatives embraced one another, wept and offered prayers of thanksgiving.

Doctors said most of the hostages were in good shape but a few might be ill or seriously hurt.

"We didn't make a deal — exactly," Mayor Walter Washington told reporters — not elaborating on what "exactly" meant.

"We said everybody would be arrested and let the courts take over from there."

The hostages had been seized Wednesday by Khaalis' band of Hanafi Muslims, who threatened that he would behead his prisoners and throw their heads from the windows unless his demands were met. A black reporter was killed and eight persons wounded in the seizure of three buildings.

Khaalis demanded that authorities bring before him five religious enemies who had been sentenced to life terms for executing two Hanifi women and five children in a religious dispute in 1973.

The end was negotiated in a three-hour meeting between Khaalis and the ambassadors of Egypt, Pakistan and Iran, acting at the behest of President Carter.

Iran's Ardeshir Zahedi said the chief reason the raiders gave up "was that, as human beings, all of us had feelings which convinced both sides that we should agree and it would be better to come out with a happy ending."

Mimi Feldman, held captive at the B'nai B'rith building where she was a secretary in the fund-raising department, said the terrorists singled out Jews. She said she was afraid to let them know she was Jewish.

"Their anti-Semitism didn't make any sense," she said. She said the raiders made a number of statements about Arabs and Palestine and "little bits of disconnected thought."

Before the arraignment, Mayor Washington was asked if the gunmen had been promised anything to surrender. "Jail!" he replied.

As Carter's personal envoy, Pittsburgh Mayor Peter Flaherty was a member of the team that negotiated the end of the ordeal.

On Thursday night, ambassadors Zahedi, Ashraf Ghorbal of Egypt and Sahabzada Yaqub Kahn of Pakistan, accompanied by two police officers and Flaherty, entered the terrorists' B'nai B'rith stronghold.

They sat down with Khaalis, a one-time social worker, for three hours of negotiations which ended the siege. Passing motorists tooted horns to welcome the freed prisoners.

The three Islamic ambassadors who were the peacemakers include Ambassador Ashraf Ghorbal of Egypt, left; Ambassador Sahabzada Yaqub-Kahn of Pakistan and Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi of Iran.

"We all untied each other," said Sidney Colster, a hostage at B'nai B'rith. "We congratulated each other. As Jews we said a prayer. We said the traditional prayer — 'Thank God, you have kept us and preserved us to this day.'"

Various Rx's Voiced to Lt. Gov. to Solve the Area Problems

BY SID LEAVITT
Freeman Staff

KINGSTON — Besides the tax relief and regional cooperation needed by everyone, Ulster County specifically needs "focal points" to attract new tourism and industry, Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupsak was told Thursday.

The lieutenant governor, in the city to launch a three-day series of area conferences on employment, heard strong cases for developing Stewart Airport in Newburgh as a regional cargo center and for revitalizing the Catskill Mountain Branch Railroad as a tourist attraction.

Miss Krupsak's aim in the conferences, scheduled to continue today in Sullivan County and wind up Saturday at Ulster County Community College, is to become a "catalyst" on the state and federal level to help solve regional and local problems, she said.

"There is no substitute for face-to-face meetings," said Len Cane, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County, who commended the lieutenant governor for bringing her staff to the area.

One immediate beneficiary of the Kingston conference may be an unnamed local industry which Mayor Francis R. Koenig said is "in trouble" because of burdensome taxes.

"We have just the programs you're talking about," Miss Krupsak said, asking the mayor to give her the industry's name after the conference so that the proper state agencies could take some action.

Meeting with area business and labor leaders, educators, government officials and community representatives two dozen at a time over the conference table, the lieutenant governor said she would return in about six months to compare notes on what had been accomplished at both ends of the problems.

Herbert M. Hekler, Ulster County planning director, said the now-defunct Catskill Mountain Branch could use either state funds or technical assistance for a feasibility study on revitalizing the line as a major east-west passenger and freight carrier.

Joseph M. Roglieri, head of the Ulster County Building Trades Council, said Stewart Airport is a "vital link" to the county's economy and could become the East Coast's major cargo port, if federal and state officials can be pushed on runway improvements.

Mary E. McMickle, president of the We've Had It Taxpayers Association, said local businessmen need relief from "headaches and more taxes." The state might consider reimbursing them for collecting sales taxes, she said.

Alfred J. Ford Jr., chairman of the county Industrial Development Agency, said the state Commerce Department should reestablish a permanent representative in the Kingston area.

Also discussed were better ways to attract tourists from the Thruway, redevelopment of docks along the Hudson River, the prospect of casino gambling, and the importance of a massive public relations effort.

However, tax relief is still the key to holding and attracting industry, said Everette Hodge, chairman of the Ulster County NAACP.

"I don't believe industry is going to buy a public relations campaign," Hodge said, calling for lower taxes and cuts in public officials' pay.

Arthur E. Weintraub of Mid-Hudson Pattern said Ulster County has been "left out" of some federal and state benefits — the recent EDA grants, for example — because it hasn't joined regional planning groups like the Hudson Valley Regional Council and the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission.

Before the conferences began, Miss Krupsak had a chance to tour uptown Kingston with Mayor Koenig and meet local businessmen. "Yak shu mash?" beamed Joseph Hudela, a Wall Street tailor who knew the standard Polish greeting.

"Dobje, dobjje," Miss

Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupsak is shown uptown Kingston by Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

Krupsak replied, joining Hudela in a lively polka in the center of his shop as seamstresses looked up from their sewing machines in astonishment.

The lieutenant governor thought uptown urban renewal was "gorgeous."

Curfew Law Remains Unbowed

BY NEIL MOELLER
Correspondent

ROSENDALE — Despite strong opposition from an overflow audience, the Rosendale Town Board this week made no changes in its recently enacted 10 p.m. curfew law for those under 18.

Many of the 60 persons jammed into the town hall Wednesday night said reasons given by the board for enactment of the curfew were already covered by existing laws prohibiting vandalism, theft, arson, and disorderly conduct.

Others said age and the time of day were irrelevant to wrongdoing. Councilman Hugh "Bud" Halligan said the period from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. is generally acknowledged to have the highest incidence of crime. Town Justice Albert Morelli said statistics about arrests of young people were not available because of the mandatory youthful offender status given first offenders under 19, which bars their arrests from becoming public record.

Morelli said the law was intended partly to enable authorities to contend with parents who do not properly supervise their children's activities.

William J. Guldy Jr. said the law is "unfair to the youth of the town who work or go to school all day and are seeking recreation. They are old enough for military service, but not for the streets of Rosendale."

Thomas Miner called the law discriminatory, saying it confused time of day with trouble. He recommended expanded recreational facilities to deal with the frustration and boredom he felt was evident among the young.

Supervisor Richard B. Glazer said the curfew law had been misrepresented, "whether deliberately or not," in the press. The law, he said, simply means that after 10 p.m. "you can't be hanging around" on a public street unless you are going somewhere.

Glazer said he didn't think the law would interfere with camping or other recreational activities. Councilman William Ritter, whose responsibilities include the police department, pledged reasonableness in enforcing the law. Police will warn the individual concerned on the first offense and both the individual and his parents on the second offense. Such procedure is authorized but not mandated by the curfew law, Ritter said.

Everything Coming Up Roses, Fish Tells Chamber Diners

KINGSTON — Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. R-25thDist., is "thrilled" by the vast energy development effort the United States is currently making, he told the 31st annual dinner gathering of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

As a new member of the House Energy and Technology Committee, he spent the past several weeks in hearings on U.S. energy research projects.

There are literally thousands of projects going on," Fish said. "One of the best kept secrets in the United States is the six to seven billion dollars we are spending on energy research.

After listening to testimony in the hearings, he says, "I'm far more optimistic today than I was a month ago."

Striking optimistic notes on the economy and political scene as well, Fish said the economy is recovering faster than most people realize and gave President Carter high marks for style.

"Just about every economist feels the economy is on its way back," he said. The main worry now is that efforts to improve prosperity will prove overstimulating and start inflation again.

Gloom-mongers should remember the United States is still regarded around the world as "the greatest country for business and the worker."

The congressman's comments were something of a contrast to the words of chamber president A. James Attenweiler, who attacked Gov. Hugh Carey for seeking increases in business taxes. Renewed business taxes will accelerate New York's economic decline, he said.

Reporting on the condition of the local chamber, Attenweiler said the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce "lost ground" during the past three years in terms of both income and volunteer effort.

The 17 per cent increase in dues income since 1973 failed to keep pace with the 31 per cent inflation, and came mostly from large corporate "voluntary" dues increases, he said.

Attenweiler called for local citizens' help in promoting Ulster County, and overcoming the county negative attitude toward its own economy.

"If we were in the Sunbelt we'd be off and running," he said. "But we don't have the funds to launch a promotional effort."

"In a county with unemployment in excess of 10 per cent, economic development must be the main thrust."

Nearly 200 people attended the annual dinner at the Holiday Inn.

Guns, Drugs Found in Phoenicia

PHOENICIA — A Hurley State Police BCI search of the Phoenicia home of Henry B. Neville, 37, has turned up five illegal handguns, cocaine and LSD.

Investigator Carl S. Van Wagenen said a search warrant was obtained after Neville's arrest Monday by federal drug enforcement officers from Newark, N. J., who charged him with operating a drug laboratory in Randolph Township and of being in possession of 10 pounds of methamphetamine with a street value of more than $300,000.

Last October, state police arrested Neville for criminal possession of a tear gas grenade, syringes, suspected cocaine, barbituates, LSD and amphetamines.

Neville is being held in $50,000 bail in the Federal House of Detention in New York City.

Railroad Property

Two Connecticut men have been arrested by Hurley State Police and charged with criminal possession of marijuana, and criminal possession of stolen property taken from railroad yards in the Route 212 area of Saugerties.

A trucker on the Thruway informed police that he had observed a vehicle doing damage to railroad property.

Police stopped a car fitting the description given and arrested Robert J. Demanche, 25 and Joseph B. Sarra, 21, of Southington, after they found railroad property in the car.

Both men are in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $300 bail each.

Club 32 Entry

An entry through a window at Club 32, Route 32, Rosendale Thursday night or Friday morning netted thieves $350 in cash, some checks and $58 from a cigarette machine.

An investigation by Hurley State Police led to the arrest of two unnamed teenagers.

One, a 15-year-old girl was charged with third degree burglary, possession of a forged instrument and possession of stolen property. Her companion, a 19-year-old youth was arrested for third degree burglary and possession of LSD.

Hearing Postponed

A hearing scheduled for Saturday in Red Hook Justice Court in the case of Richard Sirney, a director of the Unification Church, who is charged with failing to produce a 21-year-old female seminary student, has been postponed.

Sirney's counsel, Alan Susman said he is seeking to have the case moved to Dutchess County Court because, "I don't think I can get a fair trial in Red Hook."

Freeman Readers Write

Moonie 'Mindless Robots' Saved

Dear Editor:

Re Thomas Selover's letter on the Bard College Unification Church panel: I too found it disappointing.

Centering the discussion around politics, economics, and religion tended to camouflage the main, single, overriding issue.

The methods of seduction used by this movement are deceptive, dangerous and subtle. They exploit the trusting vulnerability of idealistic young adults searching for a better world. Why does this group need to hide behind more than 60 front organizations?

Lonely college students away from home and other young people, unsure of their career goals in a rapidly changing society, are solicited on the street by well dressed, smiling, extremely friendly youth and are invited to come to a lecture, a free musical event or a free dinner. They are told it is a peace or freedom organization, etc.

From there, they are enticed to a three-day weekend, where all the sophisticated brainwashing techniques are employed — isolation from the family, friends, media, telephone, sleep deprivation, low protein diet, and bombardment with continuous lectures, tapes, singing. Questions are discouraged.

The next step is a week long indoctrination period employing the same techniques. The individual becomes progressively incapable of making decisions for himself. Guilt feelings are employed. There's no time allowed for doubting. The indoctrination continues and the sessions become longer until the youth disconnects from family, school, job, the world he has known.

The words "Moon" and "church" are not used until later. Too late.

The mind control technique of indoctrination is almost identical to the brainwashing technique used in Korea and Vietnam. The only difference is that it is not necessary to hold them by physical means.

It is well known that the psychological techniques are effective and relatively simple.

Thousands of our best young American minds are being exploited and enslaved by a professionally clever, powerfully rich, world-wide organization.

Many will never be normal again. A limited number of these children have been rescued through a procedure known as "deprogramming." In one such case, I witnessed the freeing of the mind of a young friend, giving him back his own free will to choose what he wanted.

I saw him transformed from a mindless robot into a free human being able to think for himself again and exercise his own free will.

Realizing that very little has been written about this movement that would help others to comprehend the real issues, I recommend the following articles: "Why I Quit the Moon Cult," Seventeen Magazine, July 1976; and "Four Days as a Child of Sun Myung Moon," New York Daily News, Monday, Dec. 1, 1976. In this three-part series on the Moonies, John Cotter, a newspaper reporter tells how he disguised himself and attended a weekend seminar. His personal, frightening experience supports the testimony given by many ex-moonies.

Militarymen Are Pussycats

WASHINGTON - President Carter's second choice for the CIA directorship has been confirmed by the Senate with only minor misgivings over Admiral Stansfield Turner's refusal to resign his commission in the Navy. Since the Navy and the CIA are ultimately supposed to be in the same business, you would assume it wouldn't matter if the Agency's director were a military man on a leave of absence.

Is the objection to Turner merely the reductio ad absurdum of the conflict of interest idea or does it stem from a general fear of "the military"? Despite our electing soldier heroes to the presidency from time to time, we have a traditional fear of Caesarism. The army coup d'etat, the military dictator or the creation of a dangerous professional army run by a quasi-fascist officer corps is a recurrent theme in the scare literature of our politics.

As the decades have passed since World War II, always with millions of men under arms and billions spent on the materiel of war, it has become a settled axiom that "the military" exercises an undue influence on our government and our national life in general. Thus, whether it is Nixon appointing Gen. Alexander Haig to the civilian post of White House chief of staff or Carter investing Admiral Turner with the purple sheet of command over all spooks, some of us brace ourselves for the putsch which never comes.

Our admirals and generals are pussycats. Since Gen. Douglas MacArthur defied President Truman and paid for it by losing both his command and the organs of his manhood, no upper echelon officer has defied civilian authority. The admirals and the generals have been punctilious in observing their oaths to the Constitution. Indeed, the armed services are so obedient they may have unknowingly contributed to the false sense of omnipotence attributed to some of our recent presidents.

If you reflect on it, the behavior of the brass during the Vietnam war was one of almost touching loyalty to our political institutions. The crazy civilians ordered them into a war which they weren't allowed to fight as they thought best and, in the ensuing stalemate, they absorbed a homefront bombardment of ridicule and anger. Through it all the generals not only gave no thought to rebelling, they hardly ever even grumbled in public.

The good character and fidelity to constitutional principles of our officers aside, what might account for their failure to act as the military have in some European and South American countries? It's obvious that the telltale tight and tightly separated officer corps (with its allegiance to a special and private set of values) has never grown to full maturity here.

Many factors could contribute to that state of affairs: the ROTC programs, diluting the solidity of the service academy graduates; the absence in America of the kind of class structure that breeds politically destructive military elitism. Beyond that, though, there is the civilianization of our kind of war and our military institutions.

Modern warfare is too complicated for generals and admirals. The research, development, testing, procurement and often the use of many weapons systems is plainly beyond the military's training and talents.

The Pentagon couldn't run without its masses of civilian technologists, its non-military, corporate contractees and the officers who have been sent outside the military system for civilian training in running the mass of complicated stuff that non-soldiers have set up. The officer who has to go to Cal Tech or the University of Wisconsin to get a Ph.D. in mathematics or chemistry or business administration absorbs and makes values and norms his own which aren't compatible with the development of an isolated and dangerous officer class.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A Scheme to Make A Million

Big John threatened to arrest Uncle Willy several times. It was a family scandal. Unk was my mother's brother and he used to run the numbers on Jackson Avenue at Bayview. He was easy to spot. At 20 paces he looked like a bowling ball on top of a hoghead of Jello.

My old man didn't bag Uncle Willy because such an act would cause Momma to go into one of her long silences, times when she would speak to Big John through the children.

On the other hand, certain forces in City Hall kept reminding Lieutenant Bishop that numbers was a city-run business. They had their own poor on the streets taking dimes and quarters from the poor.

And yet, Unk could talk a good case. He reminded Big John that he had whizzed through school up to and including the sixth grade of elementary and had then whizzed out into the world.

This had left him slightly short on academic credits and he had not realized that his chances of becoming president had been reduced. He could add and subtract with a pencil he wet on his tongue. For him, it was running the numbers or nothing.

"Get off the street," Big John said diplomatically, "or I'll run you in." Unk got off the street. He retired to Murtagh's saloon on Bergen Avenue. It was a place where Willy had his own stool.

Willy was a likable man. No matter which side of a question a customer espoused, Uncle Willy was with him. He was the kind of upright man who would take a shot at a kid who would do grocery shopping for a lady who was known to tip a quarter.

He was slipping lager in Murtagh's one night when a welder sat beside him. This man was known as a local genius who had a fresh idea for making a million every week. This time he had an idea for Uncle Willy.

The welder whispered. Unk cocked a tin ear. The city, the man said, is full of junk yards - right? Right. Full of old cars - right? Three stories high, Unk said. Well, the welder said, why can't we buy the undamaged front part of an automobile and weld it to an uncrushed back half?

How's that? Unk said. Suppose, the man said, we find a car totalled in the rear end? We pay the man a few bucks and buy it. Then we look in other boneyards for the same model car with a front-end collision. We buy it, saw the bad ends off, and weld the good parts together.

Willy required two beers - on the welder - to think about it. He marveled. I wonder, he said, why Ford and G.M. and American Motors never thought of this? Because, the welder said, tapping his temple, they are dense.

Bee-you-tee-full, said Willy. The welder said that Uncle Willy would have to furnish the pittance to buy the wrecks. He, the welder, would furnish the labor and skill.

Uncle Willy seldom had a dime. If he had, he'd have played the numbers instead of booking them. There wasn't a banker who would nod at Unk if he fell on the sidewalk in a fit. So he went to a shylock.

Shylocks do not compete with each other. They give $5 for $6 a week, even if you live in Madagascar. This is a clear violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Willy got the dough. The welder matched the cars. He sealed two good ends of automobiles together. Then they were painted. The two men were buying for $40 and selling for $350. Some of the buyers got on the highway and were never seen again.

A few customers parked their cars, pulled up the brake, heard a ripping, tearing sound and watched the middle sag to the ground.

My old man picked Uncle Willy up at Murtagh's. He wanted to have a little talk. There was never a time when Unk wanted to speak to Dad alone, or to listen either. They got into the car and started down Communipaw Avenue. "I spoke to some of the powers," Big John said, "and they said if you'll move off Bayview and Jackson - maybe go out to the car barns - they'll allow you to run your silly little business."

Unk was pleased. He'd move. A radio call came in that a police officer needed assistance at Grand Street and Summit. My old man poured the coal on the car.

"New car?" Willy said. "Yeah," Dad said. "It's worth $800. I got it for $350 from a dizzy welder." Willy froze in the seat. Too late. Big John was doing 55 when he made a fast left at Grand Street.

I never found out which one was more surprised when the rear half of the car passed the front doing 65.

H.R. Hughes' Days of Decline

WASHINGTON— From secret daily logs kept by attendants, we have been presenting the strange saga of Howard Robard Hughes.

The late billionaire spent his last years in a series of darkened penthouses, often groggy from drugs, watching a constant round of movies. He went months, sometimes years, without trimming his hair, beard or nails.

His greatest personal struggle apparently took place in the bathroom, where he spent an abnormal amount of time performing his ablutions. His bowel movements are triumphantly recorded in the logs.

The daily records also contain repeated, mysterious references to "20-1-1-1," "the item," "BB's" and "4's." These appear to be code names for the drugs that his doctors reluctantly provided. Hughes started off New Year's Day, 1972, for example, with a dosage. A notation in the logs reports that "he took 6 of the 25 4's" shortly after he awakened at 11 a.m.

He remained awake, typically, for 25 hours. He spent the time nibbling on chicken and watching "Gunfight in Abilene," "Midnight Lace," "Darling Game," "Once Upon a Time in the West" and "Topaz." He also watched one reel of "Breakfast at Tiffany's." Then this notation appears: "After one reel, HRH said we could return."

Apparently, he also disliked "Once Upon a Time in the West." For this stern notation appears after he watched it: "HRH says not to get any more Italian westerns." But "Topaz" pleased him; the log states: "He said he likes this one."

We got wind of Hughes' condition in 1970 and published an eye-witness report. The story caused shock waves throughout his $2 billion empire. His aides responded with a frantic flurry of denials. Finally in 1972, he came out of seclusion twice within six months to visit briefly with outsiders. They contradicted our description of the billionaire as a wildly shaggy apparition.

We speculated that they may have been greeted by a double; we even established that Hughes had used doubles in the past to deceive process servers. But the logs reveal that the visitors met the real Hughes; the logs also show that it took four hours to groom him for the confrontations. It was his first barbering in years.

His trim, new Van Dyke beard was just beginning to get ragged again when an earthquake shook him out of his penthouse at Managua's Intercontinental Hotel. The log has him lounging in his reclining chair at 12:25 a.m., Dec. 23, 1972.

There is no record of the quake, which caused the hotel to heave violently, except for this terse notation: "There was no log kept from the time of the earthquake in Managua, Nicaragua, until the arrival in Miami."

The next entry clocks his arrival at Ft. Lauderdale at 11:45 p.m. on December 23. He remained holed up in his Lear jet for four hours, however, while his aides wrangled with Internal Revenue and Customs agents. They had anticipated his arrival and sought to serve him with a subpoena. But incredibly, the tax agents were called off by Washington after a few midnight phone calls to high places. Only Customs agent Harold Sawyer was admitted on board the private plane. He found the billionaire behind a blanket, which had been draped across the seats and aisle. Sawyer shined his flashlight on Hughes, who had a "black hat pulled down over his head to his ears. His face was extremely thin, and he had a full beard which appeared to be gray and flecked with brown." The man identified himself "with a mumbled assent" as Howard Hughes.

According to the logs, he spent a two-day Christmas holiday in his "Miami house" and then took off on December 26 for London. He settled into the penthouse at the Inn on the Park and immediately called for a screening of "The Deserter." The old routines were resumed — bed, chair, movies, bathroom, with prolonged picking over food, regular dosages of BB's and 4's and triumphant BM's and Big E's. (The latter apparently refers to enemies.)

Hughes agreed, meanwhile, to see Nevada's Gov. Mike O'Callaghan and gaming chairman Phil Hannifin to resolve a stalemate over his gambling properties. The meeting was scheduled the night of March 17, 1973. At 11:35 p.m., Hughes' barber Mell Stewart trimmed his beard down to a neat Van Dyke and tapered his unkempt hair. It was 1:15 in the morning before Hughes was ready to greet his Nevada visitors.

After the meeting, he shuffled into the bathroom at 3:05 a.m. and called for a screening of "Madam Sin" at 5:35 a.m.

Three months later, he made his last bid to return to reality. He announced to his startled aides that, despite his fragile health, poor eyesight and elapsed pilot's license, he would like to fly again. He didn't even own any street clothes.

Then on Feb. 12, 1976, his entourage unaccountably flew the helpless Hughes to Acapulco where he deteriorated steadily. He died, according to his doctors, on an emergency flight to Houston on April 5, 1976.

Anti-Nuclear Ad Clarified

Dear Editor:

The large anti-nuclear ad placed in this past Sunday's Freeman (March 6) may have implied that the sponsors of this Friday's public forum on nuclear energy personally endorsed the contents of the ad. To clarify this, the Ulster County Legislature, Congressmen Hamilton Fish, Matt McHugh, and Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey are sponsoring an informational debate on the pros and cons of nuclear development in and around Ulster County. It is their hope that people attending the debate will be able to leave with a better understanding of the controversial subject of nuclear energy.

Bravo on Field Trip

Dear Editor:

In regard to the field trip of the fifth grade students of the Sojourner Truth School, I would like to say bravo to the teacher and Mr. Simpson.

That was a beautiful thing Mr. Simpson did. He tried to make children accept death so that in the future when they have to experience death, they will not fear it but learn to understand that life and death go hand in hand.

Mr. Simpson and the teacher have been criticized unjustly by the few narrow minded people of this world. I feel that only a minority of the people felt that way and that the majority was in favor of what they did.

God Bless you two wonderful people for trying to make the youth of the future understand what life is all about so that when they grow up to be adults they will be able to cope better with the world they live in.

Killer Dogs are Dangerous

Dear Editor:

Dogs are not helping NRA or anyone else by killing deer. But are hazard to the people who live around them.

Dogs that kill may also turn on children and adults.

Sure there are a few deer killed by hunters that are left in the woods. (Not thousands.)

There is also a lot of deer hurt by cars and trucks that die days later.

But let's put a stop to dogs running wild and getting into garbage and messing on peoples' dooryards.

Dogs belong to their owners not everybody else.

Let's keep the dogs at their homes. Dogs without homes are trouble.

Parents Have God-Given Rights

Dear Editor:

Regarding recent fifth graders field trip to funeral home.

The issue here is simply do parents have God given rights over their children? Yes, also duties and obligations.

"Field trips" are not mandated by the state as part of the curriculum. (Not that I am opposed to them.) However, when the school sends home permission slips for field trips and it states for the entire school year — this is "blanket coverage" and a parent is negligent in signing it, if he does not know exactly where each trip is taking place.

Furthermore, has a group of parents, from, say, the PTO had a preview of these trips? Parents should ask for individual permission slips for each field trip. You are NOT obliged to send your children. Parent and child is a smaller ratio than teacher and class. Besides having more love for the child, the parent ought to know the child better.

I read a reprint from the New York State School Nurse Teachers Association Vol. 2, No. 1 - Fall 1970, "A Psychoanalytic View of the Sex Education Controversy" by Rhoda L. Lorand, Ph.D. As a parent it gave me more "insight." More parents should read it, they would not put the responsibility of sex education into the hands of the schools.

experience with the situation made him all the more sure that even slight offenses should be punished with stiff jail sentences.

By an even greater margin the legislature voted to fight any efforts to regionalize the management of the Catskill area land resources.

Citing strong opinions that the state and eventually the federal government would encroach on every aspect of the local county's right to plan for itself, 28 of the 33 legislators voted to oppose proposed Catskill Regional management bills being suggested by Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, D-101st Dist., and the Department of Environmental Conservation.

Calling the bills "contrary to the principles of home rule and sound planning" the resolution opposed the concept of regional land use planning which, they argued, almost always serves against the better interests of localities.

As expected, the group also declined to act on a resolution which would have required that the half million dollars in county insurance be put out for competitive bidding.

Despite support from several speakers who urged the resolutions passage at the afternoon session of the legislature, the proposal, offered by Kay Quick, D-City, was referred to committee for further study.

The chairman of the audit and insurance committee, Stephen Hyatt, R-Dist. 5, has already expressed a negative opinion toward the suggestion, but has indicated that his committee will review all of the material, which was presented to them at a special meeting last Monday, and will and report their findings next month.

Also referred to the committee for study was a Democratic legislator's proposal to allow property owners to pay their taxes in installments rather than the now-mandatory lump sum levy.

Eisenstadt has privately commissioned independent laboratory tests on salt, pepper and sugar similar to the tests FDA says have branded saccharin a carcinogen.

He's convinced the condiments will cause cancer in rats if the animals are treated in the same fashion as were the saccharin fed rats.

He sent his 500 New York employees home on paid vacations ly in which two of the youths stole a car in the area which was later found in Connecticut.

yesterday and called for public opposition to the proposed FDA ban. Sherwin-Williams of Cleveland Ohio, the only firm that manufactures saccharin in the U.S., is treating the proposed ban as an accomplished fact.

The company announced it will stop making the sugar substitute immediately, despite the fact that several weeks of appeals and hearings are likely before the ban becomes effective.

The ban could cost the company $10 million a year.

In Chicago, however, there was a ray of hope for diet-soda addicts.

Albert-Culver Vice President E.P. Doyle said yesterday that market research, including consumer testing, has been completed on a saccharin substitute for use in the artificial sweetener sugar twin.

Doyle said the new formula was developed as an alternative to saccharin and may never be sold if saccharin isn't banned.

Several years ago the FDA banned the use of cyclamates as sweeteners on similar grounds.

"One thing nobody thinks about," says Jones, "is that the Canadians never banned the use of cyclamates, so even without saccharin, they have something to fall back on."

Welfare Names Still the Aim

SAUGERTIES—A second notice of appeal will be filed by the Saugerties Town Board in its legal pursuit to remove a court order prohibiting the public reading of names of local welfare recipients.

The board had previously appealed the order by Supreme Court Justice Robert Williams which barred Supervisor Frank Greco from revealing the names on the grounds his action would violate welfare confidentiality laws. Recently, Judge Williams signed a second order permitting two unnamed recipients to proceed with a class action on behalf of all Saugerties home relievers.

Committed to a fight to the finish in the matter, the town board voted unanimously Thursday night to appeal the order allowing class action, along with the injunction banning name reading.

While some local residents continue to support the board's moves in the matter, others now question the validity of the lawsuit. They point out the town's welfare office is closed, home relief monies have been dropped from the budget, the local welfare officer has relinquished his job, and the county is picking up the town's welfare tab. Those circumstances leave no names to read, they insist. Still others feel the final ruling will have little significance, since the county has indicated it will bill town property owners for welfare bills accrued at year's end.

By a second unanimous vote last night, the board went on record "in strong opposition" to the formation of a Regional Commission to oversee land use in the Catskills. The resolution, co-sponsored by Councilmen Francis Hallion and Clarence Gardner, opposed any commission bill proposed by the Department of Environmental Conservation, as well as the Catskill Land Resource Management Act, recently sponsored by Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, D-101st Dist., a hometown Saugerties politico.

The board's vote against a Catskills commission was based on the belief that management of mountain lands should be left to local government.

To solve the sinking sewer problem in Barclay Heights, Halmar Construction Company has presented the board with four options.

competent persons as arbitrators, one of whom shall be chosen by the owners of each of the respective parcels, and if two arbitrators so named cannot agree, the two shall name a third, and the decision of any two of said arbitrators as to said value shall be final and binding upon the then owners.

Either party may add to said wall in height, depth or thickness and in case of damage may repair, or in case of destruction may rebuild said wall or any addition thereon, carrying up flues and the like to leave the other side as near as may be in good condition as before and use good materials and workmanship and conforming to the building laws, and doing work on his own side if the other side is built upon, and in case of repairs half of the costs of such repairs shall be paid to the party making the same by the owner of the other parcel on demand, providing such repairs are made after the said first repairer, his heirs and assigns, has paid for his half as herein provided. No addition to the thickness is to be made by either on the land of the other without the consent of such party.

LEGAL NOTICE

Said parties mutually covenant for their respective heirs and assigns, each to and with the others, his heirs, representatives and assigns, to observe the above agreement and that the covenants herein contained shall run with the land, but no owner is responsible, except for the acts or defaults while owner.

The above described property being the same as conveyed by Joseph A. Sinagra and Rita M. Sinagra, his wife, to John F. Madden by deed dated September 1, 1955 in Liber 940 of Deeds at page 588.

Reserving unto the grantors herein, their heirs and assigns the right to enter upon the lands hereinabove conveyed for the purpose of painting and/or repairing the side wall of the building on the premises lying easterly of the premises hereby conveyed.

Christian Women to Hear About 'Eggciting Eggeury'

KINGSTON—A different idea for a handcrafted, personalized special gift is suggested by Barbara Wigginton of 3 Doe Road, Blue Mountain Park, who has been working for a number of years in what she calls "eggciting eggeury." She will demonstrate the craft at two area meetings of the Christian Women's Clubs: Kingston Club I, Tuesday, March 15, 11:30 a.m. at Holiday Inn, Washington Avenue, and the Saugerties Club, Monday, March 21, at a noon luncheon at The Flamingo in Saugerties.

The idea of preparing egg-shaped gifts started several years ago when Mrs. Wigginton helped a girl friend demonstrate the technique for a Garden Club in the Woodridge, Ill., area. Her friend worked in Wanamaker's craft shop in Downers Grove, Ill. As a result of the program, Mrs. Wigginton has developed the art and demonstrated for home extension groups and various clubs. She uses plastic forms with tiny hinged doors for most of her work although goose eggs can be used or even hen's eggs although the size limits the types of decoration.

Mrs. Wigginton, whose husband Richard is employed by IBM, grew up in Peoria, Ill. The family lived in the Chicago area until moving to Blue Mountain three years ago. They have three sons: Robert, William and Allen, all teenagers and students in the Saugerties schools.

The schedules for the Christian Women's Groups next week includes Mrs. Everett (Imy) Vrooman of Rensselaer as speaker at all three Kingston clubs. She attended business and junior college and graduated from a finishing and modeling school. Her topic will be "A New You for Spring." She is serving as district counselor for Christian Women's Club and previously held the offices of chairman, advisor, and friendship Bible coffee coordinator.

Club I, which meets Tuesday noon, will include Mrs. Wigginton's eggeury presentation as well as Barbara Paul of Barrytown as vocal soloist with a medley of spring songs. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Paul E. Jones or Mrs. James McKenzie.

Club II which meets Wednesday, March 16, 11:30 a.m., will feature an Easter Parade of new fashions for women and children. Clothing will be provided through the courtesy of Robert Hall. Soprano Charlotte Smith will sing for Club II. She is active in music groups and works professionally as a nurse at the Benedictine Hospital. Reservations will be made with Mrs. John Fredrick or Mrs. August Wiedemann. Complimentary child care is provided in reservation at Holiday Inn during the luncheon hours on both days.

Kingston Rhinebeck Christian Business and Professional Women's Council will meet Tuesday, March 15, 6:30 p.m., and will feature "Spruce up Shades," which will provide decorating tips on window treatments and lamp shades. Alida Rubin of Stone Ridge will be the special feature speaker. Soloist for the evening will be Katy Stowe, alto, of Boiceville. Reservations for the council dinner meeting are being taken by Mrs. Walter Duspiva, Mrs. Randy Christenson and Mrs. Ronald Geisler.

'Let the sunshine in'

Tour of Solar Energy Homes Set

RHINEBECK—"Let the Sunshine In" is the theme of a bus tour of solar energy homes in Dutchess County, Sunday, March 13. Sponsored by the Rhinebeck Outdoor Education Advisory Committee and the Dutchess County Cooperative Extension, the tour will visit homes in the towns of LaGrange and East Fishkill. Donations of $1 per person and $2 per family to cover the cost are requested, payable on boarding the bus. Senior Citizens will be admitted free. Because of the nature of the program, the activity is limited to adults and children 10 years old and over.

According to Anita Leach, committee chairperson, buses will leave the Village Green Apartments at 1 p.m. and the Chancellor Livingston Elementary School parking lot in Rhinebeck at 1:15 p.m. In order to arrange for the buses, advance registration is required immediately at the Chancellor Livingston School; or Dutchess County Cooperative Extension, Millbrook.

The first stop will be the John Remage home on Beekman Road, East Fishkill. Using a hot air circulating system, this house obtains its heat from solar panels. Additional solar panels supply energy from heating hot water. An "ecology home," the Remage property includes a garbage composter and a lean-to greenhouse, the walls of which are solar panels.

For its second stop, the tour will inspect the Harry Wenning home, Sundance Lane, LaGrangeville, a house built under a grant from the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration. It is heated and cooled entirely by solar energy. This house with its hot water heating system has been designed as a model home in Northeastern United States. In addition to giving a talk and answering questions, Wenning will be showing a brief film on solar energy.

The tour will make its final visit to the home of Edward Cote, Greenfield Road, LaGrange. This split level ranch uses an oil furnace hot water heating system which obtains supplemental energy from solar panels installed in an addition to the rear of the house. Cote constructed the solar system himself, with the assistance of his father who installed the plumbing.

Workshop Planned For Area Organists

MIDDLETOWN—An improvisation workshop for all organists in the area is scheduled for Saturday, March 12, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Middletown Holiday Inn, Rt. 17, Exit 122. The all-day event will be conducted by Jim Levesque, a music student at Berkeley College in Boston, Mass.

The workshop is designed to help those organists planning to enter the National Organ Festival this year. Organists of all ages are invited to participate in the festival for the area to be held April 4, at the Middletown Holiday Inn. Those judged winners will represent the Tri-State area in one of four special regional festivals and could go on to the United States National Festival. Teachers of the winner also have a chance to travel to the regional and national events. Anyone interested in attending the workshop or the festivals may contact Roeder's Pianos and Organs, Rt. 17, or Linda Haas and Howard Bowen, co-chairmen of the National Organ Festival, RD 5, Box 419, Middletown, N.Y. 10940.

Nutrition Week Being Observed

Jean Harvey

KINGSTON — County Legislature Chairman Ernest Gardner, R-Dist. 5 has designated March 6 through 12 as National Nutrition Week in Ulster County.

Gardner and the Mid-Hudson Dietetic Association representative Jean Harvey urge county residents to pursue good nutrition and health practices this week and all year long.

Benefit Social Set

RHINEBECK—The Friends of the Northern Dutchess Hospital announce a benefit dinner dance, entitled "Hospital Ball at the Rhinecliff Station," will be held June 11. Proceeds will be used for the wing presently under construction at the hospital which will house the new coronary care unit. The association expresses appreciation to Amtrack for the use of the facilities.

Mrs. Jack Butti is chairman of the ball.

Infant Stimulation Program Begins

KINGSTON—An infant stimulation program for children from birth to three years has been started by the Ulster County Chapter, N.Y.S. Association for Retarded Children, to aid any child who is having developmental difficulties.

From past experience with the children who have come to the Day Training Center at age three or older, it is believed that these children would have walked and talked earlier and perhaps would not have developed physical deformities or bad self-stimulating habits, such as rocking and head banging, if they had been helped earlier. Other developmentally delayed children may be helped to get a better start for regular nursery school or kindergarten by being better coordinated and more aware. Parents need assistance and advice in handling a child who is developmentally delayed or retarded.

This new home-based Infant Stimulation Program and ARC's Day Training Center is a free service to these children who need help. The staff includes social workers, psychologist, physical therapist, nurse, special education teachers, and a home-school coordinator.

Anyone interested may call the Association for Retarded Children.

The play is suggested for mature audiences. Reservations may be made with Performing Arts of Woodstock.

Puppetree Is On Tour

POUGHKEEPSIE—The Bardavon 1869 Opera House, 35 Market St., Poughkeepsie presents the Puppetree Theatre, Saturday, March 12 and 19, 2:30 p.m. The Puppetree Theatre has been producing children's puppet shows for more than four years and has appeared in dozens of schools, shopping malls, country fairs and theatres through the Valley. This Saturday they will perform, "Jack and the Beanstalk," one of the most popular shows. Working on a bi-level stage with special lighting and sound effects, the story comes to life for children of all ages. Next Saturday, March 19, the fair tale, "Hansel and Gretel" will be performed.

Folksinger from Vermont

RHINEBECK—Earthworks Ceilidh will feature Roy Berkeley, Vermont, old-time folk singer, and Tim Woodbridge of Connecticut. Both have combined their talents for a soon-to-be released Album for Green Linnet Records. Berkeley has recorded for Coral Records and for Folkways with Artie Rose and Tom Paley as the "Old Reliable String Band." Active on the coffeeshop circuit in New York, he was the first to sing in Greenwich Village's "Gaslight." He has served as talent consultant for an advertising agency, taught folk music, and done radio and TV shows including programs for Norwegian National Radio on American Labor History and Music; for BBC and CBC and Children's Shows on WNBC-TV. Ceilidhs are open to the public Friday and Saturday night, March 11 and 12, 8 to 11 p.m.

Ancram Lists Musical Program

ANCRAM—The Ancram Opera House will have two different attractions during the month. In its fourth month of appearances at the Ancram Opera House will be Spiffy Music Hall, fast-paced contemporary hit musical revue, Saturday, March 12, 8:30 p.m., and Sunday, March 13, 2:30 p.m., and a special Easter Sunday performance, April 10, 3 p.m. The classical program schedule during March will be the return engagement of pianist Juana Zayas-Fromageot. She has just completed a two-month tour of Venezuela both in concert and with the Venezuelan National Symphony Orchestra. She will appear at the Ancram Opera House Saturday, March 26, 8:30 p.m., and Sunday, March 27, 2:30 p.m. Ancram is just off the Taconic Parkway, North, Jackson Corners exit.

St. John's Series Continues

KINGSTON—Hilda Carr, mezzo soprano, and Dale Deschler, pianist, will be heard in A Song Recital About Time in the third concert of the family series, Sunday Afternoons at St. John's, March 13, 4:30 p.m. The series sponsored jointly by the host church, St. John's, 209 Albany Ave., and Ascension and Holy Trinity, West Park, is for the benefit of the handbell fund.

'Godspell'

Don Shannon as "Judas," and David Morgan as "Jesus" star in the National Touring Company production of "Godspell" being brought to the Mid-Hudson Civic Center, Poughkeepsie, for one performance, Friday, March 18, 8 p.m. Tickets at $6.50 and $5 are now on sale at the Civic Center Box office.

Weekend

Recitals Slated

SAUGERTIES—A Kammermusik Chamber Recital will be held Sunday afternoon, 3 o'clock, when music of Haydn, Handel, Wagenseil, Rachmaninoff, Debussy and Poulenc, will be played.

This will be an unusual recital as both Leonard Zimet and Thomas Keehn, members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, will perform on two instruments rarely heard in solo presentations: the Euphonium and English Horn. Also participating in the program will be Beth Zimet, cello, Beatrice Bright and Barbara Zimet, accompanists. Thomas Keehn will also play trombone and Leonard Zimet, oboe.

The musicians at these recitals present bits of information about the music and the composer before performing each selection. Wine, cheese, coffee, tea and fellowship along with music and musical anecdotes combine to make Sunday afternoon Chamber Recitals exciting. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

NEW PALTZ—Richard A. Askoff, graduate of the State University College at Geneseo, who is studying with Dr. Robert Mumper at State University College in New Paltz, will give a solo piano recital at McKenna Theater, Sunday night, March 13, 8:30 p.m.

The program of Scarlatti, Schubert, Brahms will also include rarely heard "Sonatas and Interludes for Prepared Piano" by John Cage. Admission is free.

Askoff is a resident of Old Post Road, Marlboro.

DEAR ABBY

A Question of 'Rights'

DEAR ABBY: You stated that you thought an adult adoptee had the right to information about his or her biological parenting. And at the same time you expressed the opinion that the biological parents also have the right to confidentiality.

This issue of who has the "right" to what information is one that is currently plaguing those who are in some way involved in adoption, the dilemma being that if you take a stand for the "rights" of one party—the adoptee or the biological parents—you automatically take a stand against the other. You can't have it both ways.—C.

DEAR C: I think an adult adoptee has the right to know as much about his biological parents' MEDICAL HISTORY as possible. But he or she should not be told who (and where) his biological parents are UNLESS they want their identities and whereabouts known.

Also, biological parents should not be given information about their child's identity and whereabouts (even when the child is an adult) unless the adoptee wants to be "found."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old college girl who recently started dating a 28-year-old successful attorney.

On our first two dates, I prepared dinner for him at my apartment and we sat home and watched television. On our third date "Cheapo" invited me "out" for dinner.

I spent hours sprucing up, only to be taken to a shabby, smoke-filled diner! I felt a bit uneasy sitting beside a table of noisy truck drivers while my date seemed perfectly content eating his greasy french fries.

After dinner he scrutinized the bill and asked me to leave the tip.

On the way out, he filled his pockets with after dinner mints and later informed me that next time it would be my turn to "treat."

Abby, I do like him, but if this keeps up I don't think there will be a next time. What should I do? —CHEAP LUCK

DEAR CHEAP: If you continue dating him, you are bound to find out whether he's conservative, hurting for money or just plain cheap. And when you find out, you'll know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for nine years, and I still feel like a servant in my own home.

I am not allowed to invite more than two people over at a time because "crowds" make my husband nervous.

Every time I use the sink or the tub, he asks me if I dried the chrome.

When I use the sweeper he keeps telling me to be careful not to bump the walls.

He won't let me have anyone with a small child over because he's afraid something might get broken or dirty.

I love children, but he tells me I'm too old to start a family of my own. Am I? —THIRTY AND NO FUTURE

DEAR THIRTY: You are not too "old" to start a family, but I would have reservations about starting a family with a husband who offers me no future. And may I remind you, the longer you tolerate his tyranny, the more difficult it will be to demand your rights as an equal partner in marriage.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.

Knicks, Blazers Need Help

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Knicks, dying hard in the East, and the Portland Trail Blazers, sinking fast in the West, need help quickly.

New York, getting 25 points from Bob McAdoo, 24 from Earl Monroe and 19 from Lonnie Shelton, broke open a close but poorly played game against Portland Thursday night by outscoring the Blazers 23-8 in the first eight minutes of the final period and went on to win 108-104.

But the Knicks, now 3½ games behind Boston for the final playoff spot in the NBA's Eastern Conference, could take little enjoyment from the outcome because Spencer Haywood, the man they need desperately for a stretch run at the playoffs, was forced to the sidelines again with pain in his left leg.

Haywood, who had performed well recently after coming back from a month's inactivity, managed only four points and five rebounds in 21 minutes against the Blazers.

"Spencer will see a doctor tomorrow and skip practice," said departing Knicks coach Red Holzman. "Obviously we need him badly. He gives us rebounding strength and scoring and we need a good, long winning streak to get into the playoffs. Let's face it, if we can't do it now, we'll be talking about next year pretty soon."

Portland coach Jack Ramsey, with problems of his own, had some harsh words for his players before storming away from Madison Square Garden. Portland has played the last four games without star center Bill Walton, who missed the East Coast road trip with an injured ankle. Walton may be back next week but the Blazers have won only one of the last four and five of 11 this season without him. And only a half-game back of the second place Blazers in the Pacific Division are the hot Golden State Warriors.

"I was not satisfied with our play tonight," Ramsey said. "We lacked a team game. Even without Bill we should have won. We're just not doing it as a team."

Ramsey was especially critical of powerful Maurice Lucas who, despite 23 points and seven rebounds in the first half, rode the bench most of the second half and finished with 29 points and eight rebounds.

"There's no load on anybody's shoulders," Ramsey said angrily after keeping the locker room door closed 15 minutes after the game to speak with his players. "We don't need anybody to score 30 points. We need defense and teamwork."

Lucas, who felt he had to take over the offensive burden without Walton, was annoyed at Ramsey's criticism.

"He seemed to be unhappy with my shooting," said Lucas, who hit seven of 13 field goals in the first half. "I don't know what I did wrong. I thought I had the hot hand. Look at the stat sheet, I played only five minutes the second half and couldn't get the rhythm back. I had to keep warming up."

In the only other NBA game, Billy Paultz's 26 points and 14 rebounds led the San Antonio Spurs to their sixth straight victory, 106-100 over the Cleveland Cavs. Paultz hit 10 of 16 shots from the field, handed off seven assists and blocked two shots in one of his best games of the season. The win moved the Spurs to within 1½ games of Central Division leading Washington.

George Gervin added 24 points for San Antonio and Larry Kenon had 14 points and 13 rebounds.

Allen Signing Doesn't Convince Bowie

Kuhn, Finley At It Again

By UPI

Controversial owner Charles O. Finley hired controversial player Dick Allen Thursday.

Of course, with so much potential for controversy, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn quickly grabbed center stage.

Allen was signed as a free agent by the Oakland A's after many major league clubs apparently considered the former American League Most Valuable Player more trouble than he is worth.

Although everything was all peaches and cream between Allen and Finley Thursday, Kuhn found it another opportunity to engage in his longrunning feud with the Oakland owner.

Kuhn and Finley have been going to the mat—and court—over the sale of Oakland ballplayers. And Kuhn said the acquisition of Allen failed to allay his suspicion that Finley is trying to liquidate his club.

"I'm still not convinced he isn't trying to liquidate," Kuhn said. "And I'm not sure if he isn't trying to get out of baseball."

Finley, as always, was tactful and reverent in his reply to Kuhn.

"To me, the man is a kook," Finley said. "He is a 24-carat kook and I think it's grossly unfair for him to continue his personal vendetta against me."

Finley said the acquisition of the 33-year-old Allen was the first of several deals he expected to make in rebuilding the A's.

Allen has hit 346 home runs in his 14-

Dick Allen

year major league career.

"I thank God I'm here this day and have a job in baseball," Allen said. "But I didn't go hunting for this job. There were several other offers, but I decided this is where I wanted to be."

Oakland manager Jack McKeon said Allen would play first base most of the time and serve as the designated hitter when not at first.

Last season, in 85 games with the Philadelphia Phillies, Allen batted .268 with 15 home runs and 49 runs batted in.

Ralph Garr had three hits, including a triple, and Chet Lemon tripled and singled in leading the Chicago White Sox to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first day of exhibition action. Pitcher Steve Stone, signed by the White Sox as a free agent, pitched three hitless innings.

Gene Clines' seventh-inning double scored Ivan DeJesus to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers. DeJesus had three hits and two stolen bases for the Cubs, while Cecil Cooper homered for the Brewers.

Larvell Blanks' single in the 10th inning capped a three-run rally to give the Cleveland Indians an 8-7 behind victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Four exhibition games were rained out, including the Toronto Blue Jays' scheduled opener.

The Cincinnati Reds invoked the renewal clause for unsigned pitchers Gary Nolan and Pat Darcy, but held off on Pete Rose, Dave Concepcion and Rawley Eastwick...The Montreal Expos were reported to be close to a trade with Baltimore in which the Orioles would receive catcher Barry Foote for pitcher Ross Grimsley...Brooks Robinson homered in an intrasquad game after doubling off Jim Palmer in Wednesday's game.

NCAA Tourney Opens

Tough Task for Crum

By UPI

Denny Crum can appreciate fully the unenviable task facing his Louisville Cardinals Saturday when they play UCLA in the first-round of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Crum was UCLA coach John Wooden's assistant for three years and saw the steamroller style in which the Bruins usually go through the tournament en route to the championship.

In 1975, Wooden's final year, Crum led a Louisville squad many thought was the best basketball team in the nation against UCLA in the NCAA semifinals. But the Bruins pulled out a 75-74 victory enroute to their 10th title under Wooden.

Complicating Crum's predicament Saturday is the fact Louisville forward Larry Williams broke a bone in his right foot late in the season and his status for the national televised 4:15 p.m. EST game in Pocatello, Idaho, is uncertain.

The 6-foot-8 Williams has been the 13th-ranked Cardinals leading rebounder and is a defensive specialist, something Louisville certainly could use in facing UPI's college Player of the Year, Marques Johnson.

"He's still not running and jumping like he did before he got hurt," Crum said. "But we used him for 17 minutes against Georgia Tech in the Metro 7 Conference tournament last week and he played as good defense as anyone we had on the floor."

If Williams is unable to perform adequately, Crum at least has the consolation of turning to freshman sensation Darrell Griffith to team with Wesley Cox at the forward positions.

The Cardinals had a 21-6 record, while the fourth-ranked Bruins were 23-4 in the regular season.

Saturday's glamor game is the regionally-televised venture into higher mathematics between second-ranked San Francisco and No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas. The 6:15 p.m. EST game at Tucson, Ariz., features two rapid-fire offenses could blow a circuit on the scoreboard controls.

Las Vegas is the nation's top scoring team and the once-beaten Dons are third. The regional telecast in the East will be the Cincinnati-Marquette contest at 2:15 p.m. EST in Omaha, Neb.

Top-ranked Michigan meets underrated Holy Cross and Syracuse plays Tennessee in Sunday's nationally-televised doubleheader.

Other first-round games Saturday: At Raleigh, N.C. — VMI against Duquesne and Purdue against No. 3 North Carolina.

At Philadelphia — Princeton against No. 5 Kentucky and Hofstra against Notre Dame.

At Omaha—Southern Illinois against Arizona.

At Norman, Okla.—No. 7 Arkansas against Wake Forest and Kansas State against Providence.

At Pocatello—Idaho State against Long Beach State.

At Tucson—Utah against St. John's.

Sunday's games:

At Bloomington — North Carolina-Charlotte against Central Michigan.

At Baton Rouge — Middle Tennessee against Detroit.

Alabama entered the National Invitation Tournament as the favorite in the 16-team field and, if their first-round game Thursday night was any indication, the Crimson Tide are ready to fill the role quite admirably.

Sophomore Reggie King, a 6-6 forward, scored 26 points to lead the 18th-ranked Crimson Tide to an 80-63 victory over Memphis State.

Six of the eight first-round games in the NIT were decided by four points or less, with Alabama's victory over the Tigers the only rout. In Thursday's other games, which concluded the first round action, Massachusetts edged Seton Hall, 86-85, and St. Bonaventure pulled out a 79-77 overtime victory over Rutgers.

The NIT now moves to New York's Madison Square Garden following first-round games across the country, for the quarter-finals Monday and Tuesday.

Kingman Denies $3 Million

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Slugger Dave Kingman denied Thursday he was asking the New York Mets for a $3 million contract and was merely seeking a "dollar figure" that would put him in line with some of the other high priced major league players.

Kingman said the Mets' best offer was something approaching pitcher Tom Seaver's contract, which calls for a base of $225,000 a year.

General Manager Joe McDonald admitted the club "was far apart in negotiations" with Kingman and "that our offer is final, except for a few wrinkles here and there."

The Mets are believed to be offering Kingman $200,000 a year. There are indications he wants double that amount and is seeking a six-year contract at his figure, which would bring the total to $2.4 million for the period. In addition, he wants a bonus for signing, estimated at half a million dollars. This would amount to $2.9 million, a figure that Kingman denies is his asking price.

"The Mets are treating players in the dark ages," Kingman said. "Tom Seaver is the best pitcher in baseball, but he's being paid on old standards. If he were in my situation, he'd be worth twice as much as he's getting."

"I'm asking for a bonus to sign and I'm asking for more money than Seaver. He's a pitcher and I'm a hitter. I refuse to have my contract based on his contract. Tom is Tom and I am paid on the old schedule, but this club bases everything on Seaver."

"I'm looking and I'm seeing dollar figures paid Steve Garvey, Joe Morgan and Mike Schmidt. Why should I remain in the past? I leave it to New York fans to decide who is right."

Kingman said he is not blasting the Mets, but he remembers Rusty Staub tried to do something about the salary situation "which wasn't in line with club policy, and he was traded."

The slugger, acquired from the San Francisco Giants, hit 37 homers last year and felt he could have had many more except for an injured hand.

"The Mets don't guarantee the full contract, only half if something happens to you," Kingman said.

Kingman said he was not threatening to play out his option, but "if I have to leave, I will. I did not shut the door to salary negotiations, but I feel the door was shut on me."

"I'm looking for a multi-year contract, but I'll settle for a one-year contract. But mention one-year contract, they want nothing to do with it. They say one-year contracts are out, but they talk salaries based under old times."

McDonald said of Kingman's expensive demands: "We are attempting to establish or maintain a salary structure with this club that we can live with. I know some clubs are going to be broke and be sold. I'll make that prediction. I see it for the game of baseball. The obvious ones who will suffer are the fans. The ticket prices will have to go up to meet salaries."

Paltz Coaches Won't Accept Renomination

NEW PALTZ — With contract negotiations between the New Paltz United Teachers and the New Paltz School District at a virtual standstill for the past 15 months, all coaches of male and female athletics in the New Paltz School District voted unanimously Thursday not to accept renomination for coaching assignments for the 1977-78 school year.

Paul Kerzner, a spokesman for the teachers, said, however, that commitments for the current spring session would be met regardless of negotiations.

A 'Chippy' Night in Beantown

BOSTON (UPI) — The hockey term is "chippy" — a pleasant sounding word to describe those nasty and bloody games the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers always seem to play.

Well, the Bruins were as chippy as the Rangers and much more aggressive on offense Thursday in posting a 10-3 decision that gave them a sixth straight victory and their highest goal output of the season.

The excitement focused on the first 20 minutes when eight goals were scored, 12 penalties were meted out, and Rangers coach John Ferguson was ejected.

Each team picked up an interference penalty in the first five minutes but the tempers started flaring after New York's Dave Maloney and Boston's Wayne Cashman jostled at 5:39. Cashman received a two-minute roughing penalty and a gash between his eyes while Maloney was assessed a major penalty for drawing blood.

Ferguson, incensed at the call, began yelling at referee Bob Myers. When Boston rookie Matti Hagman scored the game's first goal 30 seconds later, someone on the New York bench threw a filled, plastic water bottle on the ice. The bottle hit linesman Swede Knox on the back of the neck and the Rangers subsequently were given a two-minute penalty.

Gregg Sheppard scored at 6:33 on the power play and added another goal at 8:04 to give the Bruins a 3-0 lead. The Rangers retaliated with a pair by Ron Greshner and Ken Hodge. But Boston's Dave Forbes scored the backbreaker, a shorthanded tally at 14:26, to start a string of seven successive Bruins' goals.

"I threw the bottle," admitted Ferguson who was thrown out at 17:56 of the first period. "I wasn't aiming at him, though."

Many doubted whether Ferguson actually tossed the bottle but no one questioned why the hard-nosed coach was ejected. After being called for a second bench minor for protesting too loudly, Ferguson stood on the boards in front of the Rangers bench and shouted to referee Myers, "You've got rabbit ears."

Myers quickly thumbed Ferguson from the bench. The coach left slowly, grabbing a hockey stick and brandishing it toward a policeman as he disappeared.

"I was sore that time because when Cashman came back on the ice, he was yanking Maloney's hair and he got away with it," said Ferguson, who talked to reporters after the first period but was gone by game's end.

Cup Contenders in Playoff Form

By United Press International

It's close to playoff time, and three of the best teams in the National Hockey League gave a hint Thursday night that they are getting ready.

The Montreal Canadiens, closing in on the NHL's best record ever, scored four goals in the second period and went on to rout the Colorado Rockies 7-1, extending their unbeaten streak at home to a league record 28 games. The Philadelphia Flyers also scored four times in the second period and ripped the Cleveland Barons 7-2. And the Boston Bruins scored six first period goals and crushed the New York Rangers 10-3 for their sixth straight victory.

Montreal, which needs 15 points in its 10 remaining games to break its own league record of 127 set last season, snapped out of one of its rare "slumps" in blasting Colorado. The Canadiens had gone two games without a victory, but Jacques Lemaire and Rejean Houle each scored twice against the Rockies and NHL point scoring leader Guy Lafleur picked up four assists.

Lafleur, whose 116 points, is looking to set a personal record as well. He is only nine points away from his own high of 125, which led the league last year, but he says "It may be a little tougher for me from now on until the end of the season."

"I know I'm skating well," he said, "but some of the clubs that we're coming up against are fighting for playoff positions and are really going to check me closely."

The Flyers, who had won the two previous Stanley Cups before the Canadiens deposed them last season, have the league's second best record with 96 points to Montreal's 113. Still, the Flyers have a tough critic to please in coach Fred Shero and he was unimpressed with his team's performance Thursday night.

"We were not playing with that much intensity; maybe the players thought they were," Shero said. "It's tougher to play against a team like this instead of say Boston or Montreal."

Mel Bridgman scored two goals for Philadelphia with Reggie Leach, Ross Lonsberry, Gary Dornhoefer, Rick MacLeish and Harvey Bennett adding one each.

In other NHL games Thursday night,

Los Angeles blanked Washington 6-0, Vancouver shut out Chicago 5-0 and St. Louis defeated Detroit 4-2.

Edmonton edged Indianapolis 4-3 in the only game in the WHA.

Kings 6, Capitals 0

Rogie Vachon needed to stop only 14 shots in posting his eighth shutout of the season, tops in the NHL, lowering his goals-against average to 2.64. Gary Sargent scored twice for the Kings and set a club record for defensemen with 47 points.

Canucks 5, Black Hawks 0

Cesare Maniago blocked 19 shots to record Vancouver's first shutout of the season and keep the Canucks alive in a three-way race for the final playoff spot in the Smythe Division. Hilliard Graves, Don Lever, Gerry O'Flaherty, Ron Sedlbauer and Dennis Ververgaert scored for Vancouver.

Blues 4, Red Wings 2

Red Berenson scored two goals and Larry Patey and Chuck Lesley one each for St. Louis, which boosted its Smythe Division lead to nine points over Chicago. Nick Libett scored both goals for the Red Wings.

Bean Cools His Temper

MIAMI (UPI) — Andy Bean is a great big, bushy-headed Georgia boy with a red-hot temper.

The ambling, slow-talking Bean's size has been an asset in his year and a half on the pro golf tour, but his temper has not. The transplanted Floridian has always been able to hit the long ball, but his tendency to blow up got him into frequent trouble.

But now Bean, the first-round leader in the $200,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament, says he has that temper in harness. "I think I got a little bit smarter."

Bean shot a five-under-par 67 over the famed Doral Blue Monster Course Thursday to take a one-shot lead over Miller Barber, Leonard Thompson and Bob Erickson, all in with 68.

His good start here typifies this year — already more than twice as good as 1976. He has won $25,408 for 19th place on the money list so far, compared with the meager $10,761 he collected in his first full year as a pro last year.

"Last year I could get pretty hot — I was a little bit more of a hothead," said the University of Florida graduate, who will be 24 years old Sunday and has never won a tournament.

The 6-4, 200-pounder, who says he was "smart enough not to play football" after his sophomore year in high school, offered the 10th hole as an example of his new-found patience.

His tee shot landed in the water after shooting a four-under on the front nine. The temptation to blow up was there.

"A year ago, I probably would have gotten hot and made a six or a seven," he said. "But today, I just said to my caddy, 'let's try to make par,' and that's what happened."

Bean went on to birdie the 11th and 12th holes, bogey the par-three 13th and birdie the 16th. He came up with a bogey on 18 when he "was thinking about keeping the ball out of the water and forgot to hit my second shot."

Bean's hot round of 67 was almost overshadowed by Bruce Lietzke's cold round of 73.

Same Old Story For Montreal?

(Editor's note: Another in a series of spring training camp sizeups. Today: The Montreal Expos.)

By FRED McMANE

UPI Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The Montreal Expos have a new manager, a new stadium and two new players with All-Star experience.

But, will it be enough to avoid the same old story? The Expos have never had a winning season in their nine years of existence, although the front office must be credited with trying to bring a winning flavor to the team during the off-season.

First, the team hired Dick Williams, who won three pennants and two world championships in the American League, as manager.

Then, they signed All-Star second baseman Dave Cash in the free agent grab bag and acquired All-Star first baseman Tony Perez from Cincinnati in a trade. Both played on championships teams a year ago.

Cash and Perez should help increase the club's run production, which last season ranked last in the league, but the team is still basically as "green" as the artificial turf in the new 60,000-seat Olympic Stadium.

"We're a young club," says Williams, "and we'll go as far as our pitching takes us. We have some good young arms but they're inexperienced. I think the new stadium will help us quite a bit. If nothing else, it will be more inspirational to the players."

STRENGTHS — Quality players in Perez, Cash and catcher Gary Carter; solid pitchers in starter Steve Rogers and reliever Will McEnaney, acquired in trade with Cincinnati.

WEAKNESSES — Inexperience in outfield, third base, catcher and on pitching staff; not much power; lack of quality starters behind Rogers.

NEW FACES — Cash, who hit .284 for Philadelphia last season, and Perez, who drove in 91 runs for Reds, will be counted on to increase run production and provide leadership. McEnaney, gives club left-handed stopper; Rookie Gerlad Hannans may make starting rotation; Jackie Brown, obtained in trade with Cleveland, also figures as starting pitcher. Rookie outfielder Andre Dawson brings impressive minor league stats and could crack starting lineup.

OUTLOOK — "I don't think we're gonna be a last place club this year," says Williams. Maybe not, but they'll have to get big years from their new players to avoid the basement for the second year in a row.

Paul Hansen Qualifies

KINGSTON — Former Kingston High School swimming star Paul Hansen, now a freshman at Cortland State, has qualified for the NCAA swimming championships off of his performances last weekend in the State University of New York Athletic Conference meet.

Hansen also was first in one event, the 400 yard individual medley.

Hansen finished second in

No-Hook, No-Slice Ball a No-No

FAR HILLS, N.J. (UPI) — A designer has come up with a new golf ball said to correct a hook or slice while in flight.

That may be a dream ball for duffers, but the U.S. Golf Association has ruled such a ball may not be used in any competition sanctioned by the USGA.

The no-hook, no-slice ball apparently meets present rules for golf ball manufacturers. However, a USGA official said American golf's governing body intends to consider a new rule.

Meantime, according to a

USGA announcement, it will not place on its list of approved implements any ball "which, although it meets other existing requirements, appears to be designed to correct a hook or slice or is promoted as being able to correct a hook or slice."

The announcement said such a ball would reduce the skill required to play golf and threaten the integrity of the game.

As described by an official, the no-hook, no-slice ball has large dimples down the center axis and smaller dimples on the sides, introducing aerodynamic effects that may tend to reduce the effects of hooking or slicing in flight.

A new rule to be considered would call for "equal aerodynamic properties throughout."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, MARCH 12

Your birthday today: For now simply realize you have an intricate and subtle puzzle to solve; in doing so, transform yourself into more evolved reality. Near the end of the year you finally make sense of the complexities of current life. Then you can reorganize swiftly, effectively. Relationships followed by new agreement. Today's natives are quick, positive thinkers. Those born this year have magnetic charm, need earlier education than most.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Gaps in communication, cooperation occur. Assume you missed something, find out what it is. To get pertinent details done right, attend to them yourself.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Ties with people are more important than anything material you derive. Your crowd is unexplainably divided. Temporarily, stir nothing more until all agree.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Keep talk light, listen for items that place the situation in perspective. Deflect demands on your time; center complaints on topics outside your concern.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Real opportunities are all focused in evening hours. Muddle through the day with as grand a sense of humor as you can manage. Share emotional experience.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): You've enough work right there without dashing about, getting more involved. Decide seriously on purely personal plans. Uninvited busybodies upset schedules.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22):

Current happenings use formalities to convey unspoken emotional reorientations. Tonight you can sort out the scene, make more sense of it than before.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Inventory previously ill-considered or poorly known information. Blend it into a coherent pattern. Move up to decisions you can abide by as time wears on.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The feeling of being sole recipient of mixed blessings is illusion. Matters straighten out in an impulsive whirl, leave you in an advantageous position.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Emotional intrigue is common, firm material gain elusive. Interpret news positively. You turn a corner, in line for more of the good things in life.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Worrying over interim phases of progress detracts from improving prospects. Leverage passes to your control; make the most of opportunity within reach.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Look on today's experience as a vacation from life's regular events. What comes unglued is for the best, affords a chance to rebuild in a better fashion.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Everybody gets into the act with supposedly creative touches. Later each one has a different version of what happened. Keep notes and your own counsel.

TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

INTRUDERS: (Q.) I have a terrible problem. My girl friends come over to my house at night time. One night after they came over a couple of boys showed up. We didn't know them.

One of the boys took my closest friend and stripped her. Then he took out a camera and took closeup pictures of her. They said they would come back if we called the police.

I don't have any parents. They were both killed. I don't have any family to turn to for advice. So I am asking you to please help me. I need it! — Scared in California.

(A.) You may not have parents, but you have a guardian of some kind. That person should know what happened, so he or she can take steps to protect you.

You should not be left alone at night. And you should not have visitors every night.

And, in this case, the police should have been notified immediately. The boys, knowing they have you scared, are likely to return any time they feel in the mood.

Talk to your guardian immediately. Tell him or her everything that happened.

JEALOUSY: (Q.) Every time some other guy walks me to class or says "Hi," Jerry gets so upset.

I tell him there's nothing going on. He just gets mad, hangs up, and walks out of his house and goes some place — but nobody knows where.

This last time he did it, I went looking for him. He wasn't home. I called all his friends, but they hadn't seen him.

How can I get Jerry not to be upset at me when a guy walks me to class or says "Hi"? I don't want to see us broken up. He is 18. I'm 17. — Suspected in Pennsylvania.

(A.) If a specific boy is walking regularly with you or having frequent talk sessions with you or calling you on the phone a lot, then Jerry has reason to be jealous. Or if you flirt with or love up to other boys, his jealousy is justified.

But if you only speak casually to different boys, or walk along with one or another boy only occasionally, then Jerry is being unreasonable.

Some boys ARE unreasonable. When a boy is like that, his girl friend is wise to break up with him.

You certainly should not go around hunting Jerry when he is upset or angry. That makes you look bad, and it encourages him to be even more stormy in his treatment of you.

(Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas, 77001. Because so many write, Dr. Adams cannot answer you personally. But she will answer readers' questions in Teen Forum daily.)

DEFENDER CHOOSES HIS KIND OF LAUGH

by Alfred Sheinwold

One way to get your laughs is to let your partners guess. Whenever they guess wrong, you can split your sides laughing. If you avoid making them guess, you can get your laughs the next day—all the way to the bank.

Opening lead — ♥ 7

East wins the first trick with the queen of hearts and returns the ten of hearts to the ace.

South leads the queen of clubs for a finesse, and East must take the king. East must now guess the best suit to return.

It would be normal for East to return a diamond, up to dummy's weakness. East would have to be a mind reader to lead a spade up to dummy's strength.

gives West a big laugh since it allows South to make the contract with four diamonds, four clubs and one heart.

OTHER KIND

West would get the other kind of laugh if he dropped the king of hearts at the second trick. This unnecessarily high play, when South's ace is winning the trick, is a signal to show an entry in a high suit rather than in a low suit. The high suit is spades; the low suit in this case would be diamonds.

The signal would tell East to return a spade when he has taken his club trick. South goes down three instead of making the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ A6 ♥ KJ8763 ♦ Q10 ♣ 108

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. Since you have 18 points in high cards, you know that the combined count is 24 to 26 points. This should be enough for game with your fine distribution. Don't beat about the bush when you know what the final contract should be.

Koenig Predicts Taxes Will Drive IBM Out of State

By ROB BORSELLINO Freeman staff
KINGSTON—The rising crime rate and the economic future of the city were the two topics that most concerned a group of clergymen as they questioned Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig for close to an hour Thursday morning at a meeting of the Ulster County Religious Council.

Koenig told the gathering that he didn't think the crime problem in the city was any worse than the crime problems that are plaguing other communities, adding that more cooperation from members of the private sector would go a long way toward aiding the police.

The mayor also renewed his call for state legislation which would allow communities to make use of volunteer police in much the same way that they employ volunteer firemen.
On the question of the economic future of the local area, the mayor said he was "deeply concerned" because the New York State tax structure is driving away business.

"I don't think that IBM will have one manufacturing operation in this state in five years because they can't afford the taxes," said

Koenig.
He also took the local newspaper to task for "always criticizing things" and taking a "negative approach." The mayor said there was a need for a more cooperative spirit on the part of the media.
Other questions on which the mayor commented dealt with the deterioration of the downtown area. Koenig said he hoped that the expected infusion of community development money would reverse the downward trend of the Strand area.

In closing, he said his biggest surprise during his eight years in office "always comes on election day when the results come in and I see how much support the people have given me."

Let's keep Scouting going stronger than ever.
